

ABOUT ME

Ralph Duke is a seasoned voice-over artist whose rich, bass tones have drawn comparisons to esteemed voices like John Goodman and Sam Elliott. With a few years of experience under his belt, Ralph has honed his craft through the guidance of various industry experts, including his current mentor, Nick Omana, who boasts an impressive 40-year tenure in the voice-over industry. Ralph's versatile vocal skills have been showcased across multiple platforms, including audio dramas, video games, YouTube content, radio commercials, live event announcements, and IVR system recordings. Not only does Ralph possess a distinctive voice, but he is also lauded for his coachability, exceptional storytelling abilities, and a vibrant sense of humor. His background in choir singing further accentuates his vocal range and adaptability, making him a valuable asset to any project requiring a compelling and memorable voice.
