PROFILE

With a broadcasting career spanning decades, I began in professional radio during my freshman year of college and went on to work in major markets including The Quad Cities, Indianapolis, and Louisville. My voice became a familiar presence on stations such as WRKA, WVEZ, and WAKY, where I concluded my full-time radio career in 2022.

Today, I serve as the local host and voice of Kentuckiana's True Oldies Channel, WLRS, while continuing to do what I love: writing, voicing, and producing commercials, promos, narrations, and interviews. I've spent over 15 years recording from my fully equipped home studio, delivering polished, broadcast-quality audio with professionalism, warmth, and versatility.
